Jewish and Gentile Christians Working Together for Missions By Brad Long

For years, I have struggled with how Christians are to conceive the role of the Jewish people in God’s redemptive plans. A recent event at the COC addressed this issue. Two leaders of Tikkun International (Tikkun is “restoration”), Ben Jester and David Rudolf, walked us through Romans 11 and explained how Jewish people are coming to salvation in Jesus, while remaining Jewish.

I realized I was experiencing the fulfillment of Eph. 2:14-16 where Paul says Christ has made one new man out of two “through the cross by which hostility has been killed.” I do not have to become Jewish, and Ben does not have to give up being Jewish.

In the early church, Messianic Judaism flourished alongside Gentile

Christianity, but with Constantine’s rule in the fourth century, antagonism arose. Jewish Christians were alienated from Gentile Christians.

However, the Lord is moving to bring Jews and non-Jews together by the blood of Jesus through whom is created the “one new man out of two.” During the event, the Lord led us in a time of praying about our mission together in the power of the Holy Spirit advancing the gospel of Jesus Christ. There is an effectiveness in our witness when Messianic Jews and Gentile Christians work together.

Please pray for PRMI’s growing connection with the Messianic Jewish movement. We are praying for a Dunamis Project in Jerusalem.

News and Announcements

The Advanced Course in Healing and Deliverance graduated 10 students in September. A Healing Week followed during which attendees received focused prayer. What a delight to see the Lord heal people!

Dunamis Projects abounded this fall, including Spiritual Warfare projects in Flushing, New York, Nottingham, UK, and Danyang, South Korea.

“Vision and Fulfillment” events kick-off in October. These gatherings for discerning what God is doing in a particular region and asking God how we can join Him in that work have already been held in Tinton Falls, NJ and Rochester, NY. Call Jeanne Kraak at the PRMI office for more information.

The Layman Online featured an article about PRMI’s Youth and Young Adults programs in their online newsletter. See it at <http://www.layman.org/challenging-young-people-advance-kingdom-god/>

It is with regret that we announce the resignation of Gary Wybenga as Director of Development and Partnerships for PRMI. We have appreciated Gary’s diligence in his work as well as his deep faith in Jesus Christ and we pray for him and his success in his future endeavors.

A Lot of Firsts

This November, we launched:

First two Growing the Church events in Canada.

Nov. 18-21 Guelph, ON, Nov. 25-28 Edmonton, AB

"What is especially encouraging about this Guelph conference is that it is being co-sponsored by the Home Missions agency of the Christian Reformed Church. This partnership reflects a growing recognition in our denomination that we need to strengthen our ability to listen to the Spirit's voice if we are to effectively engage an increasingly post-Christian culture with the Good News of Jesus." Rev. Kevin DeRaaf

First time offering of Father, Thy Kingdom Come

November 13-17 at the CoC in Black Mountain, NC

"I am excited to spend several days with others who have a passion for the Kingdom of God. I want to share with them the research I've done, so we can get a feel for the entire history of the Kingdom of God growing and expanding over the last 2000 years." Rev. Doug McMurry

First time in the UK: Advanced Course in Healing and Deliverance, November 4-9 in Northampton

"People need to have the best training they can get. After years in the planning/dreaming I am so glad that we have come to the time when this course can be offered in the UK." Katy Hill

Praying In the Spirit Together

Pray for Wisdom for Staff and Board Members:

This is the time of year when we look at plans and budget for next year. Pray for vision, wisdom and the leading of the Holy spirit as we look ahead.

Pray for those attending Growing the Church in the Power of the Holy Spirit in Canada:

Ask the Lord to lead and encourage them as they return to their churches and look for ways to integrate the teaching into congregational life.
